HELLO GREAT BUDWORTH

Steeped in history, the Cock O'Budworth, situated in Cheshire's 'most picturesque village' is a local landmark in the beautiful Great Budworth.

Originally built in the 17th century as a coaching inn, this famous pub has stood the test of time, acting as a cornerstone of local life.

Housed in this stunning Grade II listed farmhouse with its cobbled frontage and sprawling beer garden, the Cock O'Budworth is a destination for award winning beers, fantastic food and good times. Just a stone's throw away from the village centre itself you can unwind in the pub, enjoy a stroll through Great Budworth or just relax in the beer garden taking in the endless views of the Cheshire countryside.

Owned by the 175-year-old Joseph Holt brewery in Manchester, you can be sure the beers on offer here are second-to-none. From our award-winning Crystal and Diamond Lagers to our Trailblazer Stout (also award-winning) and iconic Bitter, there is a beer to suit all tastes and all ages. For us, brewing excellent beer surpasses all else.

Our food is no different. The Cock O'Budworth menu reflects the historic turned modern nature of our surroundings. You'll find a range of small plates, flatbreads, mains with a Joseph Holt twist and desserts that cater for different dietary desires, including vegetarians and vegans. Being an independent, family-owned brewery, now in its sixth generation (yes sixth), we've complimented several unique dishes with two of our most famous ales; Two Hoots and Joseph Holt Bitter. Just look out for the little pint icon next to the dish name.

The Cock O'Budworth's presence in the heart of this local community is undoubted. It's a place for locals, families, friends, first-time visitors, day-trippers and even the dog. By visiting us, you are now part of the history of this pub, you're the reason we continue to serve in this quaint village and we're proud to do so.
